The Richmond Regional Planning District Commission is pleased to provide its member jurisdictions with the following Yeas and Nays Report. Legislation is grouped by the House or Senate committee to which the bill was referred.

Given the length of the report, only legislation which was approved/enacted has been incorporated into the document; failed legislation has not been documented; however, legislation that passed both chambers but was vetoed by the Governor has been included. Vetoed legislation is marked as such.

Also included in the Yeas and Nays Report is our local legislators' (Capital Region Caucus members) voting record for each bill listed. This is highlighted following each piece of legislation.

Unless otherwise mentioned, legislation is effective as of July 1, 2007. Emergency legislation is effective upon the Governor's signature.

The Yeas and Nays Report is also posted to the Richmond Regional PDC web site and can be accessed by visiting www.richmondregional.org. In addition, detailed information, wording, and actions on individual bills can be found at the Virginia Legislative Information System's web site at <http://leg1.state.va.us/071/lis.htm>.

HOUSE AGRICULTURE

HB 1689 Municipal solid waste; regulation thereof.

Summary as passed House:

Regulation of municipal solid waste. Repeals two provisions of the solid waste laws enacted in 1999 that were subsequently found to be unconstitutional by the federal court. The bill repeals the authority of the Solid Waste Management Board to develop regulations governing the commercial transport of nonhazardous municipal solid waste by truck. This section was declared unconstitutional because it imposed certain requirements on large trucks carrying solid waste that violated the commerce clause. The federal court found that the statute placed "disproportionate burdens" on trucks carrying waste from outside of Virginia. The second provision found to be unconstitutional under the commerce clause was the 2,000 tons per day cap placed on landfills for accepting municipal solid waste. This is a recommendation of the Virginia Code Commission.

Summary as passed Senate:

Virginia Land Conservation Fund disbursements. Establishes a threshold that determines how the unrestricted funds in the Virginia Land Conservation Fund will be expended. If, by September, the new deposits in the Fund are less than $10 million, 25% of the moneys in the Fund is allocated to the Open-Space Land Preservation Trust Fund (OSLPTF) and 75% is disbursed in the form of grants equally among the following four uses: natural area protection, open spaces and parks (including land for hunting, fishing or wildlife watching), farmlands and forest preservation, and historic area preservation. If the Fund contains $10 million or more, the OSLPTF receives 25% of the moneys in the Fund and the remaining funds are awarded equally in the form of grants among five uses: natural area protection, open spaces and parks (including land for hunting, fishing or wildlife watching), farmland preservation, forestland conservation, and historic area preservation. Any OSLPTF funds not disbursed or committed to a project by the end of the fiscal year revert to the Virginia Land Conservation Fund to be redistributed among the authorized uses. This bill is identical to HB 2825.

Summary as enacted with Governor's Recommendation:

Electric utility regulation. Among other things, advances the scheduled expiration of the capped rate period from December 31, 2010, to December 31, 2008, establishes a new mechanism for regulating the rates of investor-owned electric utilities, and limits the ability of most consumers to purchase electric generation service from competing suppliers. The ratemaking procedure requires the State Corporation Commission (SCC) to conduct a rate case for investor-owned utilities in 2009; thereafter, the SCC will review each utility's rates, terms, and conditions using two 12-month test periods ending December 31, 2010, though the SCC is given discretion to stagger the years in which it conducts such reviews. In these biennial reviews the SCC will determine fair rates of return on common equity for the utility's generation and distribution services, using any methodology it finds consistent with the public interest. SB 1416 Electric utility service; advances scheduled expiration of capped rate period.

Summary as enacted with Governor's Recommendation:

Electric utility regulation. Among other things, advances the scheduled expiration of the capped rate period from December 31, 2010, to December 31, 2008, establishes a new mechanism for regulating the rates of investor-owned electric utilities, and limits the ability of most consumers to purchase electric generation service from competing suppliers. The ratemaking procedure requires the State Corporation Commission (SCC) to conduct a rate case for investor-owned utilities in 2009; thereafter, the SCC will review each utility's rates, terms, and conditions using two 12-month test periods ending December 31, 2010, though the SCC is given discretion to stagger the years in which it conducts such reviews. In these biennial reviews the SCC will determine fair rates of return on common equity for the utility's generation and distribution services, using any methodology it finds consistent with the public interest. This bill is identical to HB 3068.

HB 2954 Eminent domain; definition of public uses and limitations thereon.

Summary as enacted with Governor's Recommendation:

Public uses; eminent domain. Defines the term "public uses" as embracing only the acquisition of property where (i) the land is taken for the possession, occupation and enjoyment by the public or a public corporation; (ii) the land is taken for construction, maintenance and operation of public facilities by public corporations or by private entities provided that there is a written agreement with a public corporation providing for the use of the facility by the public; (iii) the land is taken for the creation or functioning of a public service corporation, public service company, or railroad; (iv) the land is taken for the provision of utility services by a government utility corporation; (v) the land taken is blighted and is taken for the elimination of blight; or (vi) the property is taken in a redevelopment or conservation area that is abandoned or the acquisition is needed to clear title where one of the owners agrees to such acquisition or the acquisition is by agreement of all the owners. The bill also states that property can only be taken when the public interest dominates the private gain and the primary purpose is not private financial gain, private benefit, an increase in tax base or revenues, or an increase in employment, except if the property is taken for the creation or functioning of a public service corporation, public service company, or railroad, or for the provision of authorized utility services by a government utility corporation. The bill defines the terms "blighted property," "government utility corporation," "public corporation," and "public facilities." The bill also provides that a property owner may challenge that a taking is a pretext for an unauthorized use. A former property owner, or his successors, may also request to repurchase the taken property upon the completion or abandonment of the stated public use. The bill does not apply to the forfeiture of property in connection with criminal act or real property that is subject to a certificate of take or deposit recorded prior to July 1, 2007. The bill also does not affect the ability of a redevelopment and housing authority to acquire property under a plan adopted prior to January 1, 2007, until July 1, 2010. The bill also does not prohibit the Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority or the City of Norfolk from acquiring property through the use of eminent domain for the location of a recreational facility, to be owned or operated by a nonprofit entity, that will be open to the public, provided that such acquisitions are instituted prior to July 1, 2010. Summary as introduced:

Eminent domain; definition of public uses. Provides a definition of the term "public uses" mentioned in Article I, Section 11 of the Constitution of Virginia and specifies certain exceptions to this definition, including when the taking of land is for the primary purpose of (i) conferring financial gain on a private person, (ii) enhancing tax revenues, or (iii) furthering economic development or employment. The bill also clarifies that if the property to be taken is used in connection with the operation of a business, any business losses incurred must be included in determining just compensation and any damages for the landowner. The bill also provides that the power of eminent domain can only be used to take property to eliminate blight if the property in question is in fact blighted and serves to endanger the public health, safety, or welfare. The bill also provides that a landowner may be awarded reasonable costs, including attorney and appraisal fees, if the amount of just compensation and damages awarded to a landowner exceeds the amount of the final written offer made by the petitioner. Current law only permits an award of reasonable costs if the amount of just compensation and damages is 30 percent more than the amount of the final written offer and does not permit an award of attorney fees. This bill has been incorporated into SB 781.

SB 1296 Eminent domain; definition of public uses and limitations thereon.

Summary as enacted with Governor's Recommendation:

Public uses; eminent domain. Defines the term "public uses" as embracing only the acquisition of property where (i) the land is taken for the possession, occupation and enjoyment by the public or a public corporation; (ii) the land is taken for construction, maintenance and operation of public facilities by public corporations or by private entities provided that there is a written agreement with a public corporation providing for the use of the facility by the public; (iii) the land is taken for the creation or functioning of a public service corporation, public service company, or railroad; (iv) the land is taken for the provision of utility services by a government utility corporation; (v) the land taken is blighted and is taken for the elimination of blight; or (vi) the property is taken in a redevelopment or conservation area that is abandoned or the acquisition is needed to clear title where one of the owners agrees to such acquisition or the acquisition is by agreement of all the owners. The bill also states that property can only be taken when the public interest dominates the private gain and the primary purpose is not private financial gain, private benefit, an increase in tax base or revenues, or an increase in employment, except if the property is taken for the creation or functioning of a public service corporation, public service company, or railroad, or for the provision of authorized utility services by a government utility corporation. The bill defines the terms "blighted property," "government utility corporation," "public corporation," and "public facilities." The bill also provides that a property owner may challenge that a taking is a pretext for an unauthorized use. A former property owner, or his successors, may also request to repurchase the taken property upon the completion or abandonment of the stated public use. The bill does not apply to the forfeiture of property in connection with criminal act or real property that is subject to a certificate of take or deposit recorded prior to July 1, 2007. The bill also does not affect the ability of a redevelopment and housing authority to acquire property under a plan adopted prior to January 1, 2007, until July 1, 2010. The bill also does not prohibit the Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority or the City of Norfolk from acquiring property through the use of eminent domain for the location of a recreational facility, to be owned or operated by a nonprofit entity, that will be open to the public, provided that such acquisitions are instituted prior to July 1, 2010. This bill incorporates SB 1304 and SB 1390. This bill is identical to SB 781 and HB 2954.
